TALES OF JAPANESE DEFEAT NOT CREDITED.

St. Petersburg, March 18, 1 p. m.-Admiral Stackelberg, who on account of illness, turned over the command of the Vladivostok squadron to Captain Reit-zenstein, has arrived in St. Petersburg. gives an entirely different version some of the reports emanating from Japanese sources regarding the events before he left. The cruise of his squad-ron Feb. 3 to Feb. 15 to Japanese waters was made by order of Admiral Stark for its effect upon the population of northern Japan, Admiral Stackel-berg denies that he fired upon Japanese merchantmen in Sangor straits. He says the ships were captured and that while attempting to convoy them to Port Arthur a blizzard sprang-up, and not wishing to endanger the Russian cruisers, after taking off the crews and passengers from the merchantmen one of the latter, loaded with contraband rice, was sunk. The other, which was a worthless tramp steamer, was re-leased to earry to the Japanese the story of the presence of the Russian warships in those waters for moral ef-fect. There never was any bombard-ment of Hakodate, which is heavily

The admiral adds that he cannot understand how such a stupid-story was credited. He expressed the opinion that the war will be of long duration, judging from the extensive Japanese prep arations, which were thoroughly under-stood at Vladivostok, where war was expected even earlier than it came.
